

3 OF MY FAVORITE PERFUMES I TRIED IN 2024

“Can there be too many perfumes, too many open rosebuds, too many nightingales singing, too many green leaves, too many dawns in life? Can you love each too much? Can you please each other too much?” -Victor Hugo

1. Attaquer Le Soleil Marquis De Sade (brand Etat Libre D’Orange):

“You walk the streets that stink of disease

You turn up your collar like James Dean

You put your right hand under your jacket

And pretend you have a gun

You put your left hand under your jacket

And pretend you're Napoleon” -Blues, Geordie Greep

This scent makes me think of these lyrics. It’s assertive, smug, and sexual. I wear it with my burgundy leather bomber and stomp around in my horseshoe boots, always walking quickly to avoid all the women who want to fuck me. Mixes well with bodily fluids. BAH!!!!!!!

2. Multiball (brand Pearfat): I smell this and I picture red and white circus stripes. I feel like a really fun, sexy, and cool lion tamer would wear this. I hear the chimes of a pinball machine! I hear laughs from the room over at a party. You may think it’s all fun but it’s complex, like a song that sounds happy but has sad lyrics, a la “All My Happiness is Gone” by Purple Mountains. I just didn’t know perfume could smell like this. Like patchouli, lime cola, and metallic notes? Okay. Fuck yes. Earthy gourmand is such a great concept, contradictory yet perfectly complimentary. I really love sweet greens and this scratched an itch I didn’t know I had!

3. La Divina (brand Marissa Zappas): Absolutely fucking incredible. I’ve never worn this and not had my pussy eaten. Erotic, intriguing, irresistible, sensual, deep, passionate, intoxicating, beautiful and more and more and more! Everything I’ve ever wanted from a perfume. Marissa knows what she’s doing. Super cute bottles too. Don’t have as much to say because it’s hard to describe why it’s so compelling but it’s probably my favorite on the list. Try a sample!!!
