

Georgie's 13 Magical Kissing Tips!

Cherry smashes, honey coolers, and rustlers galore. Pashing, firkytoodling, and bona fide osculation. Get to it kid.

Not to brag but I have often been told what a great kisser I am. I think it's because I take my time, I'm very thoughtful with my kisses but also wildly emotional, fun, and passionate. Kissing when done right is pure wild primal and tender erotic ecstasy. You couldn't stop even if you tried. I've touched or teased people as our first intimate encounters and waited to kiss because for me, once we kiss, it's over. Shit's going down. It's the best thing ever, and I would kill for it. I've had people tell me that sure, they like kissing just fine but don't need to have long make out sessions like they're in high school anymore. By talos run for the hills from these poor people! Lost souls in erotic hell. When I think about it, the best kisses I've had felt completely and undividedly present. The world could be burning but all I'd know was giggling in the back seat with a lover.

1. Display some fucking passion of any kind: This list is in no particular order but this is definitely my number one. While it may seem obvious, I've kissed a lot of people who simply didn't do it with much passion at all! It's no fun to be restrained, flat, and affectless. I've met more men than women who had this problem. If you are out of touch with your inner emotional life and ability to care for others, this can and most likely will translate into your kissing somehow! Or alternatively I've met people who pour their passion into creative or intellectual pursuits, career endeavors, etc. but haven't quite figured out how to cultivate passion into their interactions with others. Kiss like you're hungry for connection. Kiss like you're the first person to discover it. Abandon all anxiety. Give them EMOTION, let yourself feel animalistic and absolutely desperate for it. Breathe heavy, moan, be vocal. You've gotta kiss like you've just been dead for ten years. Say something intense and real and a little silly like you want to devour them whole or you wish you could be absorbed into their skin. You gotta cling onto them like you'll fly off the face of the fucking earth if you don't. Feel it like you've never felt anything before or don't bother. PURE RAW ENERGY BITCH!!! (But also, no pressure lol)

2. Oscillate between high and low intensity: Build things up to where you feel like you just can't take it anymore. Then wind it back down and tease them and go back to kissing softly and slowly. It's so much better when you switch back and forth. Keeps it fresh. You gotta feel it out naturally but kissing isn't a gradual upward sloping line where sexual activity of some sort is at the end. It goes up and down and around and all over.

3. Smell them: Lift their arm and breathe the fuck in and groan. I love this shit. I cannot stop myself and instinctually have to lick and bite around their armpit right after. Compliment their perfume or cologne. Beg to open their legs or lay your head on their lap and smell them. Lick the sweat off their neck like you'd die without it. Again, desperation is sexy and dare I say Necessary. Real freaks only.

4. The Chin Lip Parting move: Okay so when this works, it reeeally works. I'm gonna describe this move the best I can and hope that all its magic will translate in practice. I had a boyfriend do it to me once and I've never stopped doing it since. Pause after kissing their ear or neck and hold onto them right under their chin. A light choke perhaps, but you're just getting a grip. Take your thumb and separate their lips by moving their chin down. Once their bottom lip is isolated suckle and lightly bite on it. This shit rocks. Forces you to stop and take your time. The perfect cross between tender and rough. Best done slowly. Do this while holding their legs open with your other hand and teasing them. Putty. You're done for kid.

5. Put on music: Not a very unique tip or complete necessary, but as a real music head I gotta say man I LOVE THIS SHIT!!! It's hard to stay focused in general but music definitely helps me zone the fuck in which makes for the best kisses. Adds some direct inspiration and emotion in the air for you to draw from as your erotic wellspring. See my sex playlist also in the "Touch" folder.

6. Light hair pulling as a means towards exposing the neck: BRING BACK HAIR PULLING! Idk maybe people still do this I just don't feel like I encounter it as often anymore. But basically exactly as described. Gently pull their hair to tilt their head back and expose their neck so you can kiss it. Not too hard! Unless they really respond it and ask for more. Pull their hair then fucking eat them, bite their collarbone. Fuck it give em a hickie. BRING BACK HICKIES! Sexy mean vampire style. Scratch the back of their head too. Get their foot kickin' like a dog girl!

7. Kiss up and down literally their entire body: I'm talking start at the ear then work your way down to each and every finger tip. Study their goddamn body with your mouth. Every part of their face, each eye, each temple, the corners of their mouth. Side kisses on the corners are epically tender and underrated. When do most people get such close attention, love, and care? Make them feel it. Try and be so tender they cry, then taste their salt and kiss their lips again so they'll taste it too. Delicious.

8. Behave like what's happening is scandalous and novel: Controversial but dare I say get a little Catholic with it. Every time is the first time. Gasp if they start inching closer to your nipples or crotch. Like whoa I can't believe this is happening. Did you really just do that? Omg wow. Like oh no please don't defile me with your gorgeous hands, fuuuck I guess I'll just have to cum about it! As someone who loves to rebel, it's fun to feel like you're doing something that would make people upset. I am the fruity premarital coitus sinner, egad! Makes things fun.

9. Don't pull away too soon: There is a rhythm to kissing but nothing drives me crazy (in a bad way) more than someone who pulls away and separates their lips from mine and rekisses too often, if that makes sense. This is hard to describe with words but maintain longer lip on lip contact with more movement and variation instead of supplementing that movement and variation by separating your lips from theirs then making contact again.

10. Sync your energy: Lock in with each and mirror things of similar intensity back to each other. If they wanna tongue fuck, bite em, if they wanna butterfly kiss, kiss the tip of their nose, and so on and so forth. Kissing is an erotic and passionate conversation happening between your bodies in real time. So don't just let the kissing happen to you, talk back to em! It's boring to simply be at the whims of someone's biting, tonguing, etc. Take your turn and do something intense or sweet or whatever it is too. Lead the kiss but also be led. It's a back and forth, a give and take. If they're not responding to higher intensity, be softer and sweeter. If they're getting excited, up the ante bit by bit. If it feels like they're not matching your energy either way or just not giving much of anything for you to read at all, then stop and ask them how they like to kiss or what they like to do. If they don't really know how to respond prepare for a lame hookup unless you try and communicate and maybe teach them a couple things. Many such cases.

11. The teasing back and forth lip rub to hard kiss: Another classic move in my arsenal. It's really fun to pull away and just softly rub your lips side to side against theirs. Just barely touching. Breathe in their mouth a bit. You can really lightly kiss around their mouth if you want. Ideally if they're hot enough then they'll start whining a bit wanting your mouth back on theirs. Maybe they'll even try to kiss you if they can't take it anymore but you can hold their face back a bit while you tease their lips. Then you kiss them long, hard, and deep. Delicious. It's like micro dosing some erotic delayed gratification. Real kiss appreciators only.

12. Don't be afraid to objectify your lover a bit: This line is hard to walk but it's absolutely doable. I've hooked up with guys who had thousand yard stare and straight up were looking through me as if I was a piece of their personal fuck meat. Absolutely terrifying, strange, and wholly unsexy. But when someone wants and needs your body so bad and is in AWE of it that they can't help playing with it for pleasure, that's fucking yummy. I've met people who were timid to do or say certain things at risk of making someone feel objectified. But a healthy dose of objectification signifies and ensures your desire of someone! I think some unintended backlash of "WOKENESS" is that women appropriately asked for less objectification, but now men are afraid to be a little disgusting in the fun ways and now they're only disgusting in the bad ways. Nobody wants this. People of all genders like to be pursued, just in the right ways! Commit acts of gender euphoria and unabashedly flirt and make your sexuality known. There is no harm in trying. Give compliments. Tell somebody mid make out session that their tits or arms make you salivate and pant like a dog and that you've looked at them and wanted to be buried in them before. Make them blush. Be nasty. Don't be afraid to do it if you're not a man too! Wave and blow a kiss at the hot construction worker on the street. LIKE, YOOHOO!!! Keep it cute. Make them feel special and yeah a bit sexualized, what's the big deal! Everyone likes to feel desired. If people don't like it, they'll make it known because surprise surprise they won't reciprocate or flirt back. If they're offended or uncomfortable, back off. But you won't know till you stare at someone and see if they stare back. Fucking wink while you're at it I don't know just be a down bad sex freak is all I'm saying! We are a dying breed! Give me a bit of objectification and erotic prowess god dammit! We live in such sexless yet pornographic times. Be on the right side of history and kiss, fuck, and make love like mad.

13. Pay attention to your lover: Completely succumb to the moment. Full, unencumbered, and curious attention is one of the purest and most generous things you can give to a person. Concentrate completely on each other and what you are doing together. Mindfulness and passion go hand in hand. What are you giving them, showing them? Are you showing that you care? Are you showing that you want them in that moment unlike anything you've ever wanted before? Feel every little movement, every little sensation. Are their moans feigned, are their eyes distant? Life is so hard. Kissing can bring up a lot of emotions in people. Kissing can be an escape. Kissing is a conduit, a portal. I've made out with people and found myself sobbing afterwards. Figure out what's going on with yourself and others in the ancient process and art that is kissing!

El fin :) now go out and kiss someone!