

THE COMPULSIVE DEFENDER'S MANIFESTO

Is this what I'm becoming? A guardian of fragile perfection? A dutiful enforcer of social control?

The sun no longer sets, as we have lassoed and tethered it to a great big mirror in the sky. It sits still, aghast and paralyzed at its own naked mass. Smile and rejoice, for now we have saved the world from the pain of darkness! DEFEND AND WORSHIP THE EVER-BURNING LIGHT!

ALL THOSE WHO DARE TO QUESTION THE NEVER SETTING SUN SHOULD BE VANQUISHED SWIFTLY! Those fools who desire to venture into darkness exist solely as punishment to us, yet we know we deserve the hedonism of our never ending bright and sunny day. Kill their spirit and steal their tether breaking tools. Then weaponize their tools to make the light even brighter!

1. Objection as a means towards simplification and voiding difficulty = REAL intelligence. Compulsive defenders consistently dedicate themselves to numb joys such as embracing unwillingness and performative progression.
2. Constantly shove everything through a tight funnel of feigned moralism/intellectualism (dealer's choice) to assign it value and protect yourself. Look forward to whatever social capital is to be gained when this practice is exercised in our ever contrived sociocultural exchange markets.
3. (And be sure you retain false comfort in the assumption that things are perhaps historical/political on the surface, but underneath that surface there is ever malleable philosophy meant for subjective individuals, not irremovable science for the objective collective)
4. Never fight your despicable urges, accept righteousness without questioning so you may remain impenetrable. Cracks = places for VERY BIG BAD stuff to enter!
5. Iron out any wrinkles of discomfort, criticism, or general complexity with that special positivity of a vaguely new age feel.
6. Make a big show of how supportive and unifying you still are, but always ALWAYS object to the wrinkles!
7. Use neutral language to police yourself and others, the awareness of omnipresent and pervasive surveillance doesn't matter if you are a compulsive defender, as we are gods of ultra cleanliness.
8. Happily pay the toll, then rejoice in what a giving, docile, piece of shit you are.
9. Consume, create, consume, create, consume, create, consume, create (obvious but still...)
10. And last but not least, be sure to measure and relate the validity/significance of all cultures throughout all history by your manifesto! Truth and knowledge is always personal and free, disregard the context or condition in which it is made entirely.
